Bourbon Barrel Aged Petite Sirah

This five acre block takes its name from solidified magma, high in magnesium content, fractured to form the devigorating soils found here. Long a source of remarkable Petite Sirah, this moderately dense planting creates small vines, clusters and berries that are deeply hued and offer lovely blackberry flavors, unusually polished tannins and exquisite balance.

Tasting Notes:

The Bourbon Barrel Petite Sirah is dark and opulent. This wine is full-bodied with notes of coffee syrup, violets, and blackberry pie. The oak profile gives this wine a kick of carob, bacon and burnt caramel for a mouthcoating and lingering finish.
